DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the rack and rack-and –pinion, hydraulic pump, steel helical spring, electronic control unit, a compression-spring element, piston/cylinder device and an energy accumulator must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1, the phrase “clamshell-type” is unclear and confusing. Regarding claims 1,5,10,11,14,19,25, and 30 the phrase "in particular" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 5 recites the broad recitation an element, and the claim also recites a Bowden cable device which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

In claim 12, the phrase "the tension element" lacks proper antecedent basis. In claim 14, the phrase "seat according to one claim 4" is unclear and confusing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1,3 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Breitner et al. Breitner et al. shows the use of a “clamshell-type” of shape head restraint (11) having a rear part (23) rigidly fixed to a backrest and a front part (14) pivotally connected to an upper end of the rear part about a rotational axis (16). A driving device (22) for pivoting the head restraint front part in response to a desired inclination of the headrest..

Claims 1-5,9,22,31 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Knoll et al. Knoll et al. shows the use of a “clamshell-type” of shape head restraint (11) having a rear part (38) rigidly fixed to a backrest and a front part (13) pivotally connected to an upper end of the rear part about a rotational axis (15). A driving device comprising an “element” (31) for pivoting the head restraint front part in response to a vehicle impact by a first control signal (33) and a desired inclination of the headrest by second control signal (35). Knoll et al further discloses the signal transmitter (sensor) activates the first control device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-8,10-21,23-30 and 32-33 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
